DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

As the fall season begins to wind down and winter approaches, we hope you and your families have enjoyed the many programs and special events hosted by the Community Services Department over the past few months, including the Teen Wellness Retreat, Spooky Times at Deer Hollow Farm, Monster Bash, and the Holiday Bazaar.

Looking ahead, we're thrilled to share that preparations are underway for the Annual Tree Lighting Celebration on Monday, Dec. 9. We've planned some wonderful new surprises this year, and we can't wait to celebrate the holiday season together with you, your family, and your friends.

In addition to sharing our exciting special events, I'm pleased to provide park project updates on behalf of the Community Services Department. Our team has been hard at work enhancing our parks and facilities to better serve the community, and I'm excited to keep you informed on these improvements as they unfold.

Evelyn Mini Park, located between S. Bernardo Avenue and Moorpark Way, is currently under construction. This 0.68-acre park will include log-themed play structures, an expanded tree canopy, open lawn space, shaded seating, and picnic tables.

At Rengstorff Park, the expansion of park amenities continues with the addition of the new Magical Bridge Playground and Aquatics Center, both of which are under construction and expected to open soon. Follow @MountainViewGov on social media for updates and details on the grand openings.

Meanwhile, we are in the final stages of preparation before construction begins on the Villa-Chiquita Mini Park along Villa Street. This 0.39-acre park will feature play equipment, game tables, native plants, open lawn space, and picnic furnishings.

Lastly, the Community Services Department is excited to move forward with the development of two major plans: the Parks and Recreation Strategic Plan and the Biodiversity and Urban Forest Plan. These plans will serve as essential guides for future City programs, facilities, vegetation, habitats, and tree management. For more information and updates, please visit ImagineMVParks.com and BiodiversityMV.com.

Shoreline at Mountain View

This winter and through the year, Shoreline at Mountain View is a fine destination for Mountain View residents and the surrounding community. We welcome your visit to the area, and hope that you will enjoy all this unique facility has to offer.

01 Birding and the Pacific Flyway

Shoreline at Mountain View is home to many distinctive species of birds. Especially during the winter months, a wide variety of birds enjoy the active tidal marsh, sloughs, and adjoining Shoreline Lake for nesting, roosting, and a mere a stopping-off point along the Pacific Flyway. Grab your binoculars and your bird books, because some species observed at Shoreline include the Long-billed Curlew, Marbled Godwit, Least Sandpiper, American Avocet, Northern Shoveler, Pintail and Great Egret. No matter the weather, and especially at dawn and dusk, Shoreline's avian collection is a delight to see!

02 Refuge from Storms

Since opening to the public more than forty years ago, Shoreline has weathered storms and waves, and provided natural open spaces and wetlands environment benefiting our local community. With its high ground, Shoreline plays an important role in protecting Mountain View and its surrounding area(s) from flooding, all the while providing a buffer between the urban margin and the bay, filtering out pollutants from urban runoff and supporting critical habitats along the shoreline. The wildlife and recreation area is a place to contemplate life, as you don your windbreaker or stop by one of our warm and welcoming restaurants on site.

03 Events at the Rengstorff House

Act quickly if you're planning an event at the Rengstorff House between November and March, when the facility offers lower rental rates for up to 48 guests, both indoors and on the adjacent brick patios. Starting spring 2025, the site will reopen with full access for up to 150 guests from April to October hosting weddings, baby showers, birthday celebrations, and other events, all in keeping with its elegant, historic setting. For more information, space availability, or to schedule a rental reservations inquiry, kindly visit MountainView.gov/RengstorffHouseRentals.
